

Topic: Are we Mental Health Ready for the Next Pandemic?

Abstract:

The COVID-19 pandemic was associated with an increase in the burden of poor mental health worldwide. This highlights both the importance of mental health as a determinant of population health and the gaps in opportunities to improve mental health within health systems all over the world. This presentation will discuss the burden of poor mental health in the COVID-19 context and how this can point the way to better approaches to mitigate this burden worldwide and better preparation for the future pandemic.

Speaker:

Prof. Sandro Galea
Dean and Robert A. Knox Professor,
School of Public Health, Boston
University, USA

Date & Time:

17 May 2022, 9 am – 10 am (HKT)
16 May 2022, 9 pm - 10 pm (EST)

Format:

Zoom

Click here to Register

If you have any enquiries, please feel free to reach:

Dr. Sam Lau at (+852) 3411 3027, or via email at samlau@hkbu.edu.hk;

Ms. Jackie Man at (+852) 3411 3115, or via email at jackiem@hkbu.edu.hk